

David Haley PhD HonFCIWEM FRSA, creates ecological artworks and publishes internationally to promote 'capable futures' that address our transformative challenges. He is a Visiting Professor at Zhongyuan University of Technology, China. At Manchester Metropolitan University, UK, he was a Senior Research Fellow, Director of the Ecology In Practice research group and led the MA course in Art As Environment. He created the MA unit and short course, Making Our Futures – ecological arts and sustainable design that has been developed at universities in Barcelona, Guangzhou, Kaohsiung, Beijing, Zhengzhou and Manchester. David is, also, Vice Chair of the CIWEM Art & Environment Network, a member of UK MAB Urban Forum, Society for Ecological Restoration, Ramsar Culture Network Arts Group, and founding Trustee of Future's Venture Foundation. Before focusing his practice, research and teaching on ecology and climate change, David worked in touring/community theatre, commercial design and conference production, and celebratory arts.